

Maintaining the accuracy of PAF

November's PAF reports have revealed that there are now 29.6 million delivery points held in PAF. The number of delivery points has increased by 224 thousand over the last 12 months and indicates growth in the construction industry. ## The PAF Licensing Centre

We have further developed our PAF Licensing Centre to enhance the sign up process for Corporate Group customers. With this new functionality, Corporate Group customers are able to sign up and accept the terms of the Multiple Residence and Not Yet Built data sets and Corporate Group licences. To find out more please visit our PAF Licensing Centre.

'Can I take your Postcode and the first line of your address please?'

In a new blog, the Head of Royal Mail's Address Management Unit, Steve Rooney, talks about the importance of Postcodes and accurate addressing in a digital age, whether used to make it quicker and easier for us to buy online, reduce the risk of fraud or to select the most appropriate delivery options. ## Access the Welsh alternative for 1.2m addresses in Wales

There are currently 1.5 million delivery points in Wales and 1.2 million of those have a Welsh alternative registered against them within the Postcode Address File.

Did you know that Royal Mail can, as part of your supply of PAF, give you access to a file of Welsh alternative addresses?

Many customers living within Wales would like to be contacted using their Welsh address and where Royal Mail has been advised that bi-lingual versions are in use it has added this information to a Welsh Alternative PAF file. The address information will still appear in English within the PAF data you receive but access to the bi-lingual address is also possible.

Multiple Residence and Not Yet Built videos

We're currently developing two new short videos to explain the features and benefits of Multiple Residence and Not Yet Built.

The video style will be very similar to the current PAF Video and will be available in due course to publish on your websites. We aim to have the videos available in the first half of 2016.
